

A new organization for social purposes, and which is unique in the list of clubs of this city, and was but recently arranged, is to be known as the Indianapolis Coaching Club. The membership thus far is limited to thirty-six. The object is entirely social, and the purpose is to have drives every two weeks. Three coaches have been secured to accommodate the members, and the only guests will be young married couples, who have been invited to accompany the young people and play property. Of course the day selected for the drive cannot be regular, on account of the weather not being always propitious, but at least once a fortnight the drives will be taken. A different road will be chosen each time. The Country Club, Millersville, Allisonville and other places will be visited. The first excursion will take place Friday and the route will be what is known as the river drive. The members are the Misses Erwin, Miss Lucy Herod, Miss Kate Wallick, Miss Elton Allen, Miss Maxwell, Miss Eliza Adams, Miss Agnes Duncan, Miss Anna Haselmann, Miss Jessie Miller, Miss Florence Baker, Miss Ruth Fletcher and the Misses Atkins, Mr. Wm. Coburn, Mr. H. R. Allen, Jr., Mr. Henry Atkins, Mr. Marvin Maxwell, Messrs. L. B. and Clarence Martindale, Mr. J. Maurice Butler, Mr. Alvin R. Lockard, Mr. Edward Gates, Mr. Hugh Richards, Mr. Frederick Ayres, Mr. John Bradshaw, Mr. Benjamin P. Nichols, Mr. Page Chapman, Mr. Jesse Fletcher, Mr. Otto Hansen and Mr. Herbert Painter.
